Academic Intersectionality Mentoring in Medical Schools (AIMMS Mentoring)

Ethnic minority women are underrepresented in academic leadership positions.

AIMMS Mentoring is a national initiative covering all UK medical schools to support the career development of ethnic minority women towards equal and authentic leadership in academic medicine and health.

ARE YOU INTERESTED IN TAKING PART ?

If you identify as a woman from an ethnic minority, are employed in academic medicine and health in the UK and would like to explore joining the initiative as a mentor or mentee or for peer support
